

ACTIVITY 2: PODCAST

Work in pairs and create an audio podcast to outline the benefits of Children's Ground on the local community.

The determinants of health (biological, physical environment, social and behavioural) should be used, to demonstrate how they act as protective factors for the children's health and individual development.

You could also extend the presentation to include statistics about the health status of the indigenous community, and what would be the expected benefits and outcomes to the community by being involved in Children's Ground.

Use the speech bubbles to plan what you're going to say.
